WILL RUSH MEASURE TO HOUSE

With Speed the Keynote, Congress Starts Work on Biggest Peacetime Appropriation Bill in Nation's History, When Subcommittee Calls High Administration Officials For Secret Testimony

NOTICE TO AXIS THE U. S. MEANS BUSINESS

Washington, March 13.—(P)—With speed the keynote, congress started work today on the biggest peacetime appropriation bill in the nation's history—President Roosevelt's request for $7,000,000,000 to produce "the tools of defense" for Britain, Greece and China.

The measure started its legislative journey before an 11-man House appropriations subcommittee which has passed on the bulk of this country's multi-billion dollar defense plans since the collapse of France last spring.

Although the magnitude of the aid program was enormous, its announcement created few ripples on Capitol Hill. One informed legislator said that the size of President Roosevelt's request had a definite purpose—"to demonstrate that Uncle Sam means business."

This congressman reported that originally the plans were to ask only about half the present amount in cash and the other half in authorizations. Subsequently, however, it was decided to seek the full $7,000,000,000 in cash, he said, because of the psychological effect that might have on the Axis powers.

Secretary Hull was the first on the list of high administration officials called to appear before the House appropriations subcommittee for brief, secret testimony.

Rep. Woodrum (D-Va.), the acting chairman, said the State Department head would be followed by Secretaries Morgenthau, Stimson, Knox, Gen. George C. Marshall.

BRING YOUTH TO STATE HOSPITAL AFTER ATTACK

A 14-year-old James City youth, who went berserk at his home yesterday, inflicting injuries on his six-year-old sister which may prove fatal and severely injuring his mother, was brought from the Elk county jail at Ridgway to the Warren State Hospital, North Warren, shortly after noon today.

The youth, Louis Rotar, Jr., attacked his sister and mother with a heavy club of stove wood. The girl, Mary Rotar, a patient in Kane Community Hospital with fractures at the top and base of her skull, either of which may prove fatal, according to examining physicians. Her mother was confined to her bed at home with a face wound and other injuries which included a right arm torn or burned from wrist to elbow.

State motor police from the Kane sub-station were called while neighbors held the youth, a raving maniac, and later removed him to the Elk county jail at Ridgway for examination.

The attack took place about 10:30 a. m. The youth, who had been under observation for the past month as result of "unusual action," arose yesterday morning, complaining of pain in the front of his head. He was said to have acted somewhat dazed and irritable, but such condition had been noted before.

In the kitchen of the home, the youth suddenly became enraged at his mother, grasping an 18-inch piece of heavy stove wood and striking her. A blow on the side of her head lacerated her face and it was not known whether a second blow struck her arm or whether in falling, she struck the side of a stove to injure her arm.

The girl, Mary, fled screaming from the home with her brother in pursuit. She fell in front of the home and he started clubbing her, screaming at the top of his voice. Neighbors who heard the child's cries ran to her aid and the boy was pinned to the ground and the cudgel taken from him.

State police were called and the youth taken to Ridgway after medical attention had been given to the sister and mother. The father was away at the time and a brother, aged 8 years, was in school.

MINSTRELS AT NORTH WARREN ATTRACT MANY

Seldom has any theatrical presentation staged in this vicinity been given the loud acclaim that is being accorded the 1941 edition of the North Warren Minstrels by the capacity audience which saw the opening performance last evening at the North Warren Community House.

The entire production was new. The ingenious and attractive stage setting, the unusually catchy songs, the infectious humor, the special choral numbers—all blended together to make truly the finest show the North Warren group has ever presented.

So smoothly coordinated was the entire production that it would be difficult to point out any individual as outstanding. Every member of the cast contributed his full share to the success of the performance. Much credit also should go to Russell F. Dietrich, director; Carroll A. Fowler, conductor of the special choral numbers, and the orchestra under the direction of Georgia Lott Pepke.

The final performance of the show will be presented this evening at 8:15 o'clock.

Spring Opening in Local Stores Is Attended by Large Number Despite Sudden Drop in Mercury Last Night

A sudden and decided drop of temperature in late afternoon had little apparent effect upon the enthusiasm with which the townsfolk turned out last night to visit those establishments which had joined forces in declaring that it was time to turn one's thoughts to the problems of what to wear this spring, in both personal adornment and in a good face-lifting for the home grown dandy with long winter's use.

Through the efforts of management and employees in eight different stores which kept open house throughout the evening, many patrons ordinarily kept busy at various tasks throughout the daytime hours were given the opportunity of browsing about leisurely, making mental selections and viewing the latest designs in everything from a handy kitchen gadget to a smart ensemble for the lady who has tired of even the handiest kitchen.

Beginning with the Metzger-Wright store, where spring was in evidence on every floor, shoppers veered west and took in the Betty Lee, the Jean Frocks and Betty Lee, the Jean Frocks and Davidson Company on the avenue. Retracing their steps, to Liberty street and paused to admire in the Miller Shop, at the Jean Carol Hat Shop and to Turner's on the corner. On either the trip "to town" or while returning, many stopped for a greeting and a glimpse at new furnishings at Fred Bartsch's.

Those who for one reason or another were not privileged to attend these friendly open house affairs will be interested in a passing glimpse at each establishment.

Taken in the order named above, the sightseer stopped first to admire the show windows artistically planned and arranged by "Sonny" Clark at Metzger-Wright's. Lured inside by the music of "Doc" Jordan and his boys, amplified to reach every part of the large building, the eye was caught by two large silk flags, the Stars and Stripes and that of the American Red Cross, and beyond them the neatness of artistically displayed wares.

Done in the American theme, the first floor offered for the ladies that which is smart this season for women at work, in the afternoon, for sports and glamorous evenings. Gay accessories included floral handkerchiefs in bright array, the new Navy-run Nylons, little lapel tricks guaranteed to give an air to the oldest suit, and such things as cleverly designed purses, realistic flowers and the many other wishfuls. Her shoes were daintily arrayed in their department and beyond these were the bright rainbows of yard goods and lovely household linens.

For the menfolks, haberdashery vied with some of Milady's display tables in color and texture and design. It will not be a dull year for the head of the household if these glimpses are to be depended upon when it comes to his shirts, ties, socks and even in his lounging moments. The prize in this department, however, went to the new dry shaver made to fit right into a vest pocket.

Spun aluminum, indirect lighting fixtures gave a soft glow to the newly remodeled second floor, where the American theme was repeated in many wallpaper designs and in their complement of handsome drapes and furnishings. A well-lighted corner was devoted to carpeting to match or contrast with any decorative mood and all about were the occasional pieces so necessary to comfortable living.

Stairs to the next floor brought the visitors to another land of color again specializing in the articles most interesting to women, clothes of all manner, and design and color, for day or night and in groupings to suit any purse. Here, also, was a corner for the very-much-younger set, from babies to the first longie overalls for the young master of the family.

Up again, and there was the orchestra, and beyond it the completely furnished model kitchen, electrical equipment to provide more spare moments for the housekeeper and a colorful array of the hundred and one things that are grouped under the title household necessities.

The tour over and downstairs again to the street floor, there were few who did not stop for a second glimpse of the front window containing a simple white frock of white silk jersey, topped with a long cape of pale green and surrounded by matching accessories. Later, this was spotlighted to form a charming panel picture.

Live models and soft music were the offering of the Betty Lee Shop, where all display tables and racks had been cleared from the floor to accommodate the large numbers who witnessed the style show. At the rear of the store, over the spring flowers provided a background in lighter tone and here was the stage where models paraded to soft music.

Models were Miss Victoria Nelson, Miss Betty McKinney, Miss Marcella Wilson, Miss Betty Birchard and Miss Phyllis Leuthold, their frocks, coats and sportswear stressing the spring leaders, beige and navy with bright shades for cheery touch in accessories. Sweaters and skirts, two and three piece suits, dresses navy coats, figured and plain redingotes were shown with their complement in purses and flower trimmed hats. Little Rachel Brindis modeled what the miss of three will wear in her dressier moments.

About the walls were ensembles grouped against green and white net drapes and in the display windows were choice garments shown against plain backgrounds dotted with cheerful plaques.

The Jean Frocks, in its new location since early December, featured in its windows dresser street frocks, coats and suits, offset by the informal but always popular blouses and sweaters for wear with casually swinging skirts, and bags and hose to fill any need.

Interior displays were made much more attractive by the use of new recessed booths, permitting of careful arrangements as to size and purpose of garments. This is the store's first spring showing in its new home and old and new friends were made most welcome.

Another newcomer on this street is the Davidson Company, which was formally opened at 336 Pennsylvania avenue, west, last Saturday evening. This store is not new, however, to the buying public and friends of its 29 years took the opportunity to extend congratulations and best wishes for continued success. Baskets of spring flowers in each window brought reminders of the Saturday night

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisons waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste may stay in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pen and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Capable Cast Gives Pleasing Comedy at Players' Gathering

The amusing three-act comedy "A Woman's A Fool (To Be Clever)", in which Dorothy Bennett and Lark Hannah collaborated to present the scheming wiles of a "promising young actress" and the never-failing vanity of a handsome matinee idol, was the choice of the program committee for the March studio meeting of the Warren Players Club, given before a good sized audience last night at the Women's Club.

Willis Johnston coached the production, which had for its locale the Bermuda home of Jeff Foster, retired actor, and his playwright wife, Christine. In these roles were Jack Palen and Hope Glassman both new to the local stage. Other characterizations were as follows:

Eddie Somers, Lester Muthert; Major Mac Kinander; Minerva Himmelman, Patsy McClure; Nina Suffe, Clara Ulrich; Lew Lerner, Warren Stone; Josephine Lerner, Lorraine Harkless; Rosemary Littleproud, Kathleen Simmons.

A comfortably arranged terrace, where the Fosters and their guests spent the major portion of the time, was the work of Mr. Johnston and Mr. Muthert, designers, and carried out by Robert Schorran and Bill McClure. Brackett Ayers and John Rossman, Jr., worked out the lighting effects, with Mildred Schorran on properties and Ellsworth Babbitt doing sound effects.

Assisting behind the scenes, also, were Althea Borden, as prompter; Margaret Wright, in charge of make-up; Beatrice Genge, assembling costumes and Mary Conway as production manager.

The monthly publication, Curtain Calls, drew attention to current announcement of details concerning the spring play and winners of the club's annual playwriting competition, with the manuscripts now in the hands of the judges. Curtain Calls committee for this month was composed of Millie Kopp and Charles Beck.

open house and called attention to spring suits and coats on one hand and to accessories on the other.

Returning to Liberty street, as directed, the visitor entered the Miller store, where sport coats, junior suits and accessories filled the windows. Stressed particularly were the Nelly Don and American Gopher dresses which filled the bill on practically every summer occasion, and the extras that delight the eye and heart of every woman.

Apple blossoms in the window, tulips and irises inside, brought the spring touch to the Jean Carol Hat Shop, which literally abounds in hats of every color and description, featuring, of course, their exclusive. A job, Chalfontes and Gages. A dog around showed purses of leather and fabric and color drew the eye to a showcase of flowers. In its exact center rested a realistic American flag of red, white and blue lapel blossoms. Lambs gambled in the ledge decorations and bluebirds fled in the background.

Practically and economy were the shopping highlights found at Turner's, where both floors held new 1941 models of General Electric refrigerators and ranges, steel cabinet ensembles grouped with sinks and dishwashing units, radios and refrigerators bearing the Philco trademark, the Bendix complete, automatic home laundry, Odvin Beauty ranger. Patrons were invited to admire and consult with salesmen on their needs and the shopping in this section of town was ended.

No matter which way they were traveling, visitors were warmly greeted at the Bartsch store

Church Groups Honor South Side Couple On Golden Wedding; Open House Later

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Johnson, 212 Monodale, avenue, where they have resided for the past 43 years, was the scene of many happy reunions on Wednesday, when 124 relatives and friends called to extend congratulations and register in their golden wedding day guest book.

The celebration was arranged by their three children, Mrs. Herbert R. Weston, of Silver Spring, Md., and Arthur E. and Freeman A. Johnson, of Warren.

The golden motif was carried out artistically in candles and holders grouped about a beautifully decorated wedding cake on the tea table. Presiding there during the afternoon were Mrs. Louis Taegle and Mrs. O. R. Peng, and in the evening, Mrs. George Walters and Mrs. William Arnold.

Among the many who called during the day were the following who came from out of town: Mrs. Marie Marker, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Marker, Mrs. Marie Marker, Mrs. Clarence Lindstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Corydon Marker and granddaughter, Carol Marker, all of Jamestown, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred and sons, Wesley and Ronald, of Elmira, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson, Rochester, N. Y.; Mr. William Engle and daughter, Leatrice, of Erie; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mathis and son, Laverne and Mrs. Cullen Crane, of Bradford.

Throughout the day there arrived telegrams, cards and other greetings from many unable to be present and gifts presented the happy couple included many lovely remembrances.

The Johnsons were happy honor guests at noon Wednesday when the Ladies Aid Society of the First Evangelical church gave a luncheon at the home of Mrs. A. D. Johnson.

Mrs. Edwin Jack played the Wagner Bridal Chorus as the guests were being seated and, during the serving she sang beautifully "At Dawning" and "Trade Winds." Rev. J. C. Wygant offered the invocation.

The beautiful table decorations were the gift of Mrs. James Grear's class and the flowers were presented by the Seekers Class. In the table's center were a tiny bridal couple, yellow jonquils and white napdragons and at either end were white candles in golden holders, were napkins, place cards and tiny

Union Demands Are Rejected by Mine Owners

Speaking for the operators, Charles O'Neill, president of the United Eastern Coal Sales Corporation, said that if national defense needs change conditions in the industry as to price and production, the operators and miners could make necessary adjustments in their agreement at a later date.

It was of "primary necessity," the operators said, that the conference act promptly in reaching a new agreement and to keep the public of sufficient coal without interruption and "without the imposition of unreasonable burdens on the people."

The operators suggested also that the joint conference consider increasing the work week from 35 hours (five 7-hour days) to 40 hours (five 8-hour days) or, as an alternative during the "emergency production period," to 42 hours (six 7-hour days).

testified she wrote the letter and that her son delivered it, placing it in the Headley mail box. Headley, she said, returned it, as was his custom with her letters.

The letter was written, she added, "about the last time we were going to do the shooting."

Attorneys said the letter would be read later, and Headley testified he would summon Headley to testify, also today.

Testifying for the state, Mrs. Pettiford corroborated the testimony of her sister, Mrs. Cumberland, that Headley, a 49-year-old gas field worker, had first suggested and then helped plan the shooting of his wife.

Mrs. Headley was shot five times last August at her home but recovered from her wounds only to end her own life last January.

Headley is being tried on a charge of conspiracy to murder his wife, a charge which the two sisters will face in court later.

The article detailed an involved financial transaction in which, it was alleged, the widow received none of the purchase money but was dissatisfied, the account continued, and "August 14, 1940, she embarked alone on the steamer Bavaria in Hamburg for America."

Willkie, in a statement in London before he ended his tour of England Feb. 5 and broadcast by the British Broadcasting Corporation in its German news transmission, said:

"I am of purely German descent. My family name is not Willkie, but Willicke. Willicke and German versions of spelling differ. My grandparents left Germany 90 years ago because they were persecuted against anti-Semitism and demanded the right to live as free men. I, too, claim that right."

Wife Got FAT—No Longer Attractive LOST HUSBAND'S LOVE

The above headline appeared in a New York newspaper in connection with a divorce trial that had attracted wide attention. "She was a beautiful woman," one witness testified, "but she got fat and is not attractive any more."

Thousands of women are getting fat and losing their appeal, just because they do not know what to do. If you are fat, you would like to lose some weight and at the same time gain in physical charm and attractiveness more energy—greater activity.

Why not do what thousands of women have done to get rid of pounds of unwanted fat? Take a teaspoonful of Kruschen Salt (a famous English formula in a glass of hot water) every morning before breakfast and keep it up for thirty days. Cut out parties and fatty meats and go light on "three bread potatoes butter and cream." Then weigh yourself and see how many pounds you have lost.

A bottle of Kruschen Salt will last you for 4 weeks and costs but little. Ask any druggist for a bottle of Kruschen Salt or new Kruschen Salt—pleasant, pleasant and start today to lose fat. Satisfaction guaranteed or money back.

Mrs. Roosevelt Upholds Freedom in Hats

A WOMAN's life would be dull indeed if she had to wear standardized hats, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt believes. The first lady practices what she preaches, for there's a wide range of fancy in her hats shown here. And, while she thinks that one of the millinery industry's troubles is the frequency of new models, she says a woman should be free to wear any hat she likes, no matter how freakish.

BY ANNE ADAMS

A gay deceiver of a dress is Pattern 4687, with its magic slimming effect on your figure. Anne Adams has carefully designed it for the most amount of flattery—and the least amount of sewing effort. Two clever slenderizing devices are the tapered front panel and the slanting hip seams. In back there is no waist-seaming—just darts for near fit. More darts at the shoulders hold-in the softness through the bustline. You may choose between two neck treatments: one crosses over and buttons smartly; the other folds back into revers, revealing a squared-off sweetheart neckline. You might face the revers with contrast, perhaps even letting the front panel match. Ric-rac or lace trim looks gay on this round-the-clock matron style.

Pattern 4687 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48. Size 36 takes 3 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric.

Surprise them on ST. PATRICK'S DAY with this Spry FULL FLAVOR cake

OH, LOOK!

THERE'S grated lemon rind in the cake, mint flavoring in the frosting—a wonderful combination! But make sure you get the FULL delicate tang.

Don't risk ordinary shortenings that may "smother" flavor

Play safe and use Spry. It's purer, stays fresher longer, creams so easily. Spry's a flavor saver, time saver, money saver, too—costs about half what expensive cake shortening does. Change to Spry today for all baking and frying!

Spry FULL FLAVOR St. Patrick's Day Cake

3 1/2 cups Spry 2 1/2 whole eggs and 1 egg yolk 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder 1/4 cup sugar 2 1/4 cups sifted flour 1/4 cup milk 1 1/4 cups sugar 1 1/4 cups green gum-drop fingers

Blend Spry, salt and lemon rind. Add sugar gradually and cream well. (It's a joy to find how easily Spry mixes!) Add eggs, singly, beating well after each addition. Sift baking powder with flour 8 times. Add flour to creamed mixture, alternately with milk, mixing all to creamed mixture until smooth. Bake in two Spry-grazed 8-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375° F) 25 to 30 minutes.

Spread Mint Frosting between layers and on top of cake. Decorate with small shamrocks around edge, and a green harp in the center. To make shamrocks, use green gum-drop fingers. Cut slices 1/4-inch thick and arrange in groups of 3 to resemble shamrocks. Cut lengthwise slivers for stems and attach to each shamrock.

See how tender and fine-grained this Spry cake is. It's lighter, too, and so good-tasting. Pure Spry lets you get the FULL delicate tang of the grated lemon rind flavoring. Make all your cakes with Spry. Use for all pastry and frosting, too.

Mint Frosting

1 egg white, unbeaten 1/2 tablespoons water 1/4 cup sugar 1/4 teaspoon light cream sirup

Put egg white, sugar, water and cream sirup in top of double boiler and mix thoroughly. Place over rapidly boiling water and beat constantly with rotary egg beater until mixture will hold a peak (about 7 minutes).

Remove from fire, add mint extract, and beat until cool and thick enough to spread. Makes enough frosting for tops of two 8-inch layers.

(All measurements in this recipe are level)

TASTE THE DIFFERENCE!

No "faded flavor" cakes with purer Spry! You get the FULL rich taste of your ingredients

WARREN COUNTY AGENT SPEAKS AT YOUNGSVILLE

Youngsville, March 12—The Youngsville Rotary club had a talk from O. C. Tritt, county farm agent, at the dinner meeting Tuesday evening at Jewel's Restaurant. He stated that Warren County was fast becoming an important center for growing certified seed potatoes. He told many interesting facts in regard to potatoes, and how to raise them. He also told of the cooperative gardening and marketing systems used in the county.

The annual election of officers for the organization will be held on April 8th.

AUXILIARY

The American Legion Auxiliary held a one o'clock thirteen dinner at the home of Mrs. Aramita Wingard. This was followed by the business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Warren Jones. Plans were discussed for the annual Legion birthday dinner. The date of its 21st birthday is March 15th, but because this falls on Sunday evening, the Legion decided it would be better to have the celebration on Monday night, March 17th. The dinner, to which all Legion men, their wives, the auxiliary members and their husbands are invited will be held at 6:00 p. m. This will be followed by a program.

On Tuesday afternoon, it was decided to order 700 more poppies for poppy day, Saturday, May 24. The Auxiliary pays 3c apiece for these poppies. The money goes to the disabled soldiers in the hospitals where they are made. All money received from poppy sales must be used for welfare work. Mrs. George Schmidt was appointed the poppy chairman. It was voted to purchase the medal to be presented at commencement time to the girl selected from the ninth grade. THE FELLOWSHIP OF PRAYER

Plumb-Lines

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 12.
"Amos, what seest thou?" And I said, A Plumb-line." Read Amos 7:4-9.

Souls and society come at last to the verdict of the plumb line of goodness, justice and the sovereign rectitude of God's moral order. The plumb lines of individual rectitude, the plumb line of social righteousness says, in time, the final word about all pride and power.

The ruin of proud cities and the collapse of cherished orders have now long been recording the verdict of that plumb line. No words can yet explain it all; the fact remains. Our building over-reached itself; the structure behind the deceiving facade had no strength of uprightness. We see God's plumb line through the dust. If only we could have seen it sooner. We must not forget it as we rebuild.

PRAYER: O Thou Whose judgments are true and righteous always, have mercy upon all those who stand amidst the downfall of so much they thought secure, and

An Historic Signature Makes H. R. 1776 a Law

With the speed that promises to characterize America's aid to Britain, a determined visaged U. S. President inscribed the name Franklin D. Roosevelt at the bottom of H. R. 1776, making a law of the much debated lend-lease bill. The time was 3:50 p. m., less than two hours after Congress completed action on the bill.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY THEME OF FINE TALK

At the weekly luncheon meeting of the Warren Kiwanis Club, held yesterday noon at the Carver House, members enjoyed a very interesting talk by Miss Maryann Brugger, social service worker for the Children's Aid Society.

Speaking on the subject, "Child Health Resources in Warren County," Miss Brugger outlined the various types of work being done for the underprivileged children in the county. She told of the various organizations which are cooperating to aid youngsters from homes which have less fortunate circumstances.

She outlined the work of the Children's Aid Society, noting its progress from the time it was originally formed 51 years ago. She pointed out that at present the society is mainly concerned with health service to underprivileged children throughout the county.

Miss Brugger was introduced by Dr. E. S. Briggs.

I am wondering whether this year's World Bridge Olympic, which will be held April 17, will produce at least one pair of foreign winners. This will be the 10th annual World Bridge Olympic and nearly every year either the North-South or East-West winners have represented a country other than the United States.

Generally the United States bridge players are considered superior to those of foreign coun-

Former Pittsfield Resident Major in Chemical Division

It will interest friends here to know that Major Lyle Clough, former Pittsfield resident, passed his physical examination at the Carlisle Barracks last week and today goes to Washington, D. C., where he will have four weeks of special training in chemical warfare.

Of the four majors called so far, it is reported, two will be stationed in Washington and two at the arsenal at Edgewood, Md.

Major Clough is well known throughout this section, having grown up in Corry. His early education was gained in Corry schools and he was graduated with honors from Allegheny College. Later, he taught chemistry and was athletic director at Silver Creek, N. Y., after which he was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and served in France for two years with the Medical Corps.

Recently developed is a governor for automobiles that operates only when the headlights are turned on, thus slowing up the car during night driving.

HEART'S HAVEN

Ruth Rosemary Corby

YESTERDAY: Julie Emerson, who is an actress a little past her prime, and her young friend Eve have won some money in an advertising contest, and Julie has insisted on investing it in a month at an expensive hotel on the chance that Eve can pick up a young husband for her self—worth money. She just has wrangled an invitation out of wealthy Mrs. Marbury, yet she has a feeling Eve will not be too pleased.

Chapter Two
Party

"MRS. MARBURY has asked us up for cocktails tomorrow afternoon," Julie announced with some triumph in her voice. "You see, dear, I was right about coming here—and please try to act a little less bored, won't you, Eve? Even if you do think we're wasting the money, you might as well enjoy yourself while we're here."

Eve turned her head so that it rested on her arm, while she looked at her self-appointed guardian. "I thought you looked as if you had just swallowed a canary when I came in—in spite of the eye-pads. Of course I'll try to be the gay young thing, if you want me to, but for heaven's sake, Julie, let's cancel our reservation next week and go back to New York. I could still get back my old job at the Sheraton Decorating Shop and we'd have some money left, anyhow."

"But we have over two thousand dollars left," Julie said with astonishment. "And of course you can't walk into a place like this and get to know everyone within five days. We really should stay, Eve, now that we're just getting to know the right people. You'll feel better about it, too. I'm sure, when you meet Mrs. Marbury's niece—Gina Goodell—and her friends."

"Oh, Gina Goodell!" said Eve enigmatically.

"Don't you like her?" inquired Julie anxiously.

"I probably would if I ever got the chance," retorted Eve. "But after all, she is the heiress to the Marbury lumber millions. In spite of your hopes, Julie, I'm just a poor working girl and Gina and I don't have much in common. I'm afraid."

And there was slight friction in the Marbury suite as well.

"But—Aunt Helen, you won't ruin the afternoon with that—that architect, will you?" Gina Goodell's light voice was a wall, as she advanced for Aunt Helen directing the catering in the bridal suite at the Ocean Park Hotel.

Gina matched her voice; her blonde hair hung in softly waved lengths around a pert, childish face that was too sharp to be pretty. She could, if she wished, look like an angel straying out of her celestial world, but usually, as now, she looked merely like an annoyed kitten. Mrs. Marbury, however, knew that Gina's claws could be sharp, and she hastened to reassure her niece.

"He's not an architect, darling—he's an expert on Early American houses; there's quite a difference."

"What difference?"

"Oh, don't be trivial, dear—" Her aunt vaguely moved a tray of canapés nearer the edge of the table. She did hope Gina would forget her petulance. If she actually took a dislike to Brett Rodman there would be little hope of getting her interested in this house. As the waiter left the room, she clutched at the first straw that came to mind.

"And by the way, dear—I've invited that nice Mrs. Emerson and her niece to come up. She's such a good bridge player—and interested in old houses, too. We had quite a chat about it."

"You do pick up the strangest people, Aunt Helen. You've scarcely seen this Mrs. Emerson a dozen times. . . . Gina's voice wandered off, as she lit a cigarette and stuck it in a long amber holder.

Mrs. Marbury thought it time to be authoritative. "I don't pick up people, Gina—and it's disrespectful of you to use that tone in Chicago—fine people—and I'm sure this Mrs. Emerson must be related. It seems to me the younger generation condemns everyone it doesn't know."

"Darling!" Gina was all contrition, her blonde hair a scented cloud as she swooped down on her aunt and kissed her soft cheek.

"I'll keep the crowd under control for the sake of these cronies of yours. But the niece is such a queer duck—always dodging off and looking down her nose. It's a nice niece too—funny she hasn't just swarms of men around."

Hunt For Moonlight

TO Eve and Julie, presenting themselves as the Marbury suite at five o'clock, the hostess and her niece seemed to be in perfect accord. Mrs. Marbury came forward instantly and drew them into a group of chattering young people, whom she introduced with vague gestures right and left.

Eve instantly identified Gina; she was curious to see what type of girl she could be. She noticed with surprise that Gina was regarding her with the same challenging expression. It was Gina who spoke first, and held out her hand.

"Hello!"

"Why—hello!" Eve's husky voice held a surprised note. Gina's hand had taken her entirely off guard. The next minute Gina's arm was slipped through hers, and Eve was turned half away from the crowd.

"All those who want to be presented—the line forms at the right," Gina announced, her long red-tipped fingers warding off the furthest.

"I'll not going to have this gal killed in the rush," "Just introduce her to me, then."

A young blond giant looked down at Eve unsmilingly, but she suspected there were dimples. "You'll protect her, the lot!" Gina's report brought a ready grin, and Eve saw that, as she had thought, there was one lopsided dimple. "But I suppose I'll have to do it. Eve, this is Neil Bowron, third, and if he even mentions moonlight, run like a deer. This is Evangeline Prentice, Neil."

"I like moonlight," said Eve thoughtfully. Instantly Neil stooped, picked her up in his arms, and started for the door.

"Out of my way," he commanded Gina. "We're going to look for some moonlight. Eve found herself set on her feet again, slightly bewildered, but having entirely lost her first feeling of strangeness. No one seemed to object to the little scene. The girls told her carelessly "not to mind Neil" and the men crowded for their introductions until Neil was pushed into the background.

"One slight, earnest-looking young man whose hair was perpetually in his eyes, came up just as Eve began to look for Julie."

"I'm Hamilton Millard," he said casually. "My friends call me Ham. I hope you don't think we're just a bunch of roughnecks."

"Not at all," Eve managed, although her heart was thumping heavily. "Usually introductions are so dull, don't you think?"

"Good girl!" Ham caught Gina's hand as she walked by and said in a stage whisper: "If I don't propose some night—this is the reason why." He pointed a finger at Eve.

Gina's small face was unexpectedly serious. "I don't believe I'd mind," she said slowly. "I'm afraid I'm going to like her, Ham."

Fun At Last

THE rest of them evidently agreed. Gina's announcement, and Eve found herself the center of a laughing group that dissolved and came together again with apparent lack of design. Yet she knew, even without glancing over her shoulder, that Neil Bowron was always near at hand. For the first time since she had come to the hotel—indeed, for the first time in many months—Eve began to enjoy herself.

She forgot that she did not belong, that most of these young people—even Neil—were accepting her over the value. She entered into their running commentaries on the hotel and its lack of excitement, until a question from one of the girls brought her up short.

"Are you coming down to Spring Lake next month?" she inquired. "Don't stay at the hotel—we can put you up."

Eve caught her breath and hoped she did not look as startled as she felt.

"My aunt must return to New York," she said fumblingly. "We haven't made any plans beyond that."

Again Eve looked desperately for Julie, but she and Mrs. Marbury were sitting at a table in a corner, talking busily and paying no attention to the others. Eve was hoping for escape when she felt Neil's hand on her arm. She glanced up gratefully.

"The moonlight's turned off—but there's a nice sunset out on the terrace," he said in a low tone. "Maybe we could make it do."

"What do you think?"

Eve nodded, and together they strolled to the long, open windows.

Julie, happening to see them go, interrupted her hostess' often-repeated complaint about Mr. Rodman's lateness.

"Who is that with Eve?" she asked with a shade of concern. The man was too handsome to be true, she told herself.

Mrs. Marbury looked around, and locating them just as they stepped outside, said placidly, "Oh, that's Neil. Neil Bowron, you know. Nice boy. I knew his mother quite well at one time, but she's lived abroad now for the last five years. She married a count, I believe. Well—at last!"

Her exclamation was directed toward two men who came in at that moment and stood, obviously ill at ease, just where the maid had left them. The older man was almost bald, and his head shone almost as much as his unrimmed glasses. The other man, looking around with what Julie privately thought was a disdainful expression, appeared more at ease, but defiant as if he dared the assembled pair to do his worst.

ties, but in this kind of contest, which calls for careful analysis, foreign players have been very successful. Last year the North-South winners were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Learmonth, Maracaibo, Venezuela, and the East-West winners were Mrs. A. C. Bryant and Mrs. C. H. Drury of Ketchikan, Alaska.

One of the contestants in a game in Australia wrote me about a peculiar result on hand No. 1. The committee prescribed the bidding on this hand, which North was to play at four spades, with the king of clubs opening by East. North can make four spades, even though he plays the ace of clubs to the first trick. But our friend in Australia wrote that at his table they overlooked the prescribed bidding, and as a result, he, with the South cards, arrived at a six no trump contract.

The jack of diamonds was opened and won with the ace, and five spade tricks were cashed. East let go two clubs and then discarded the queen of diamonds saving hearts because South had bid the suit. On the fifth spade South discarded his third heart.

He then led a small club from dummy. East played the queen and South won with the ace. South played the nine of diamonds. West covered with the ten and North won.

Now dummy led the jack of clubs and East correctly let it run, then stepped up on the third round of clubs, but declarer's eighth trick was not an entry for cashing the fourth club.

Local Trainee Writes Interesting Letter to Members of Draft Board

Members of Local Selective Service Board No. 1 have received a very interesting letter from Pvt. George Pope, of this city, who was a member of the group of trainees who left here on February 26th for induction into the U. S. Army for a year's training.

Pvt. Pope is now with Battery H, 71st Coast Artillery (A.A.) at Fort Story, Va. Several others from the county also are at this camp.

In his letter to the board, Pvt. Pope says:

"When we left Warren, we had a nice trip to Pittsburgh, arriving about 4:30 p. m. We went right to the induction center and began our physical exams. When we finished, we found that all of our group passed O. K.

"As it was late in the evening, we went to the Y. M. C. A. and ate. They then sent us to the Hotel Henry for the night. It is a very nice place.

"In the morning they paid for our breakfast, after which we went back to the induction center for our instructions. We were to leave the center at 8 p. m., so we had the day to ourselves. They gave us two more meal tickets, one for dinner and one for supper, also a ticket to see the show, 'Buck Private,' which was a very good attraction.

"After supper we went to the induction center and stayed until 8 o'clock and then marched in a group of about 140 men to the train, which left the station about 10:55 p. m.

"We were on a Pullman and most of us turned in early, but a few stayed up the biggest share of the night. I imagine they were sorry the next day.

"We arrived in Camp Meade about 9 o'clock the next morning. Camp Meade is a large camp, men coming and going every day. We had our shots, were fed well, stayed a few days and then orders came to move. Most of the boys went to different forts, such as Monroe, Knox and Story.

"There are five of the Warren county boys here with me. One is from Garland, one from Pittsfield and three from Warren. They are Wells, Kallbach and myself.

"We have good food, sleep in our own quarters, have a nice group of officers. They sure drill you, but it is very interesting. There are about 800 in our camp. It is a new camp and growing larger. They expect about 24,000 by the first of August.

"They talk about putting us on field rations the first of May for one month. Then we go on maneuvers for three months and visit a few states, such as Texas or perhaps California, but we always return to our own barracks. It will be our home for one year.

"There is plenty of sand here. We are about one mile from the Ocean and could see it if it were not for the sand hills.

"I think most of the boys who want to be truck drivers, cooks or in the coastal artillery, would like it here as there will be a lot of quick advancement, since they are short of officers."

Grange Notes

PLEASANT TOWNSHIP GRANGE PLANS PARTY

At last night's meeting of Pleasant Grange, the following committee was named for the birthday party to be held later in the month: Mrs. Edith Briggs, Mrs. Mary Owens, Mrs. Frances Dove, Mrs. Hena Chapel. This function will honor 15 members having birthday anniversaries in the first quarter of the new year. Details of plans will be announced later.

The speaker last evening was Miss James, who told of the benefits derived from the use of homogenized milk. Several business matters were discussed and the meeting was concluded with a social hour.

Mrs. James Chapel, who is the former Miss Eva Elum, was honored with a shower of pretty and useful gifts to conclude the evening.

It has been estimated that less than 20 per cent of the inmates of American penal institutions have had high school educations.
